Dear Praying Friends,

Thank you for your continued prayers for me. As I've traveled, I have been aware of God's protection and your prayers.

Kentucky Trip

When I wrote my last letter, I was headed to Kentucky. Thank you for praying while I was gone. I enjoyed a much needed rest and a good time with my family. We were all together for the first time in a year and a half.

While in Kentucky, the Lord gave opportunity to share with my parents' church what is going on in ministry here. This church has been a blessing to me in so many ways over the years. I'm thankful for the opportunity to visit with them personally and bring them up-to-date.

As much as I needed the rest and enjoyed the visits, I was getting eager to get back to work. I'm glad the Lord gave me a ministry that I enjoy. I would do it anyway, but giving me a task I enjoy is just one more expression of His love for me.

After returning from Kentucky, I spent a couple of weeks with my home church in Amarillo, Texas. God has greatly blessed me with a loving church that supports me, prays for me, and stands behind me as I work.

Back to the Work

I'm back in Ft. Worth now. We are finished with our part of the Indochina literature except for one language. Please pray as we work to get this one finished. There have been difficulties and delays with this language, but I think we're making headway again. Pray we'll be able to wrap this up quickly.

The Wilson sisters did exceptionally well while I was away. It was exciting to see their training pay off. They carried on like they had been doing it all their lives. I'm thankful for how quickly they've learned and their faithfulness in the work.

Updated Plans

If you haven't yet heard, our departure date for Thailand has been moved. Instead of leaving this month, we now expect to leave in January 2005. Since this decision was made, we have seen the Lord confirm over and again that this is His will. I am thankful that the Lord leads in every aspect of our lives and ministry.

I often chafe at the delays the Lord sends along. I get impatient to get on with the plans at hand. This time was different. There was not even the slightest sigh and I was content to wait however long He said. I knew without a doubt the Lord was leading. Maybe I'm finally starting to learn what the Lord has been trying to teach me for so long.

What's Ahead?

We will be working on the remaining language for Indochina, getting it ready to print.

I am also cleaning up files from older projects and inventorying them so we have quicker, easier access to them. With the inventory database, we should be able to tell at a glance the status of each project. Also, plans are to put much of the finished project on the web in the future. This clean-up and inventory must be done before these can be made available online.

Prayer Requests

- Pray for the Indochina literature, that we'll be able to finish it without further delays.
- Pray as we prepare to leave for Thailand.

Thank you for your prayers. We see God answering them on a daily basis.

Because all I am is His,

Myra Noel
