“Now unto the King eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, be honour and glory for ever and ever. Amen.” 1 Timothy 1:17

Travel

November was filled with travel. The first two weeks found me in Kenai, Alaska, at a Missions Conference with Immanuel Baptist Church. This church has supported me since I left for Papua New Guinea in the Fall of 1998. It was a wonderful conference and they took great care of me and the other missionaries.

I stayed an extra week after the conference to spend with my family, and it was great to visit with Dad and Mom and my sister, Audrey, and her family. God was very gracious to give me time with them during and after the missions conference.

After my trip to Alaska, I was home for a few days, then off to Amarillo for the weekend. We had a special service before our missionary to Russia returned to the field. It had been many months since I had been able to be with my home church, and it was great to be with them again.

I returned to Fort Worth overnight, just long enough to go to the Thanksgiving service here, unpack, and repack. The next morning I left for Belton, TX. My brother and his family were there, visiting friends for Thanksgiving. They invited me, so I was able to be with family and friends for Thanksgiving. It is not often I have that privilege, and I was very grateful for it.

Typesetting & Training

When I returned from Alaska, I was asked to typeset the Spanish John and Romans for the back of the lesson books being printed for the Panama Project. (For more information on this project, go to www.panamaschoolproject.com.)

In the process of typesetting the John Romans, we found a problem with the typing in one of the verses and realized the same problem existed in the New Testament I had typeset some time back. The printing ministry I typeset the New Testament for had not gone to press yet, so we were able to fix both texts before printing. We were all thankful that this was caught before the presses started rolling.

I am also retypesetting some tracts that have been submitted to the Resources for Missions site. They needed to be put in a format similar to the ones already on the site and turned into PDF files. They should be finished, proofed, and posted by next month.

Video and Web

New Web Site - A pastor friend in Colorado asked if I would help him update his church's website. Instead of just changing the information that was outdated since he became pastor, we updated the entire site. It took several weeks, but the site is now up and running. It not only leads people to their church, but gives them the Gospel while browsing their site. You can see it at www.antiochbaptistchurchpueblo.org.

The Gaudet Family website has been updated. For those who have not already been there to see it, we have added a Projects page for them. This page is to let people know what projects are being worked on over there, their usefulness, their status, and the needs for each project. This is so people will know how to pray for the work being done in Thailand. Bro. Gaudet is continually sending me updates and new projects to put on there, so check it regularly.

In addition to the new site and the work on the Gaudet site, I have helped my sister and her husband with technical difficulties with their site, began another evangelistic website for a family in Alaska, and am working on literature for the Resources for Missions website. A new website is in the works, but I have just begun on it. More about that in my next letter.

Chelsea has not been able to help recently because of college and work demanding so much of her time. Since she has not been able to help, I have begun working on converting Bro. Martin's seminars to DVD again. I am also helping him with some Missions Power Points and some other bits and pieces he needs for print as time permits.

This and That

A new semester has started at Metropolitan's Bible University. I have signed up for one regular course and one Modular course. I am grateful for the opportunity to be involved in these classes.

Metropolitan also has an after-school program. I have agreed to participate in this program one day each week. I am looking forward to this new ministry.

Thank you to everyone who has been praying for me and the ministry. I have been sick quite a bit these past couple of months and your prayers have been greatly needed.

Because all I am is His,
